

ACCESSING SERVICES AND SUPPORTS

The North American Council on Adoptable Children (NACAC) website has resources for adoptive and foster parents.

Find a Parent Group:

Search the database by state to find resources in your community. Some groups serve a region or state, while others serve a smaller community.

Find Local Adoption Support:

If you need support or have questions related to adoption, connect with organizations and individuals in your state. Contact information on the local post-adoption service provider, and in some states a NACAC volunteer willing to answer your questions.
